Environmental Protection, Principles and Governance: The Environment Act 2021

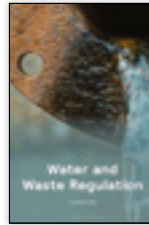

Francis Taylor Building

The Environment Act 2020 creates a new regime of environmental policy for the UK, together with a new system of targets, monitoring and reporting on issues such as air quality, water, waste and biodiversity. It also creates an entirely new regulator with wide-ranging enforcement powers, and a new form of litigation: environmental review.

This new book, written by one of the leading chambers in this field, assists practitioners with the new regime of environmental regulation. It will be the go-to source for anyone needing to get to grips with the new environmental governance regime established by the Act.

Cornerstone on Gangs

Cornerstone Barristers, Sarah Salmon & Jack Barber

As gang violence and county lines drug activity rise and spread across the country, the Policing and Crime Act 2009 provides a civil remedy to try and prevent such violent and activity.

The Act confers power on the county court to grant an injunction to prevent the respondent from engaging in, or encouraging gang-related violence and drug dealing activity, in circumstances where it has been proven to the civil standard that the respondent has engaged in such violence or drug-dealing activity.

This brand new title examines how the Act can be used as a proactive remedy to address gang-related issues.

Digital Mediation

Stephen Walker

Is digital mediation set to become the new norm? How do mediators, advisers and clients get the same results out of digital mediations as they do from face to face mediations? Do new skills and mindsets need to be learnt? How does digital mediation fit into the world of the Digital Justice System?

Experience-based and full of checklists and flowcharts, this book, written by a mediator with experience of over 200 digital mediations, answers these questions and many more.

Digital mediation is here to stay and everyone involved must adapt to it.

The MIBI Agreements and the Law

Richard Lyons & Rose Caroline McGrath

Your comprehensive guide to the law that has built up around the Motor Insurers' Bureau of Ireland (MIBI) Agreements. The MIBI deals primarily with compensation of victims in road traffic accidents where the drivers are untraced and uninsured. This book focusses on both statutory and common law liability, together with European law.

The third edition includes analysis of recent key developments in the law, including the CJEU's landmark Vnuk decision; their finding of the MIBI to be an emanation of the State subsequent to Farrell v Whitty; and revisions of foreign vehicle coverage to reflect the post-Brexit landscape.

Wylie on Land Law of Northern Ireland

Heather Conway, Queen's University Belfast, Northern Ireland & Sheena Grattan

For many years, practitioners and students in Northern Ireland relied on John Wylie's Irish Land Law. Since the fourth edition in 2010, that book has dealt with the law in the Republic only. This new title is based on the third edition of Irish Land Law but is streamlined, more relevant and more accessible to practitioners and students in Northern Ireland.

It includes major case law and statutory developments and a new chapter on proprietary estoppel, and human rights issues, as relevant to land law, are integrated throughout.

An Auditor's Guide to Auditing Financial Statements in the UK

Steve Collings, Leavitt Walmsley Associates Ltd

Written by an experienced auditor this practical guide helps auditors plan their procedures in accordance with current auditing standards and other forms of regulation. The advice provided allows readers to get to grips with what the ISAs

(UK) strive to achieve and what can - and typically does - go wrong during the execution of an audit procedure.

All chapters are clearly structured so that the reader can understand what they are trying to achieve during each step of the process, how they achieve those objectives, and the pitfalls to avoid.

Cryptoasset Taxation

Dion Seymour & Zoe Wyatt

This book provides clear, authoritative guidance on the tax issues surrounding crypto-assets – the most common examples of which are Bitcoin and Ethereum – in the United Kingdom. HMRC do not consider crypto-assets to be money, or that buying or selling crypto-assets is gambling, meaning that, in their view, profits or gains from buying and selling crypto-assets are taxable.

Co-authored by the former crypto-asset policy and product owner at HMRC, it offers practical support to advisors of businesses and individual clients in this rapidly evolving field. It covers definitions, technical developments and tax implications of crypto-assets, and includes relevant case law.

Taxation of Intellectual Property

Julian Hickey & Zeeshan Khilji

This title analyses the approach of the UK tax regime towards intellectual property assets. Following the life-cycle of intellectual property from creation to disposal, the commentary highlights the tax considerations and planning issues for individuals, non-corporate entities and companies. A separate chapter deals with international issues.

A separate chapter deals with international issues.

Two new chapters are added to this edition, one dealing with crypto-assets, and the other providing guidance on dealing with disputes, enquiries and appeals, focusing on the practical issues advisors need to consider.

This new edition is updated by Julian Hickey of Old Square Tax Chambers and Zeeshan Khilji of ETC Tax.

The Regulation of Tax Avoidance

Hartley Foster

This book explains the concept of 'tax avoidance', how it has been developed in legislation and case law, and provides guidance on the application of introduced supply side measures.

The first part of the book examines relevant legal developments and cases. The second part covers the introduced supply side measures from DOTAS onwards, including the penalty regime, set up to dissuade individuals and businesses from engaging in tax avoidance practices.

This is a complex and changing area of tax law and this title will help advisers to avoid falling foul of these regulations and ensure that their reputation remains 'clean'.
