

TERMS & CONDITIONS

Bloomsbury Professional online Tax seminar, June 2025

APR & BPR: making sense of the new capped relief

Understanding tax planning after this generational change for farms and businesses

Booking

A VAT invoice will be issued upon receipt of your booking email. Once submitted, the booking email constitutes a firm booking which can only be cancelled in accordance with our cancellation policy set out below. Once we receive your booking email, we will send you a booking acknowledgement. If you have not received this acknowledgment prior to the date of the conference, please contact us. A Zoom link will be emailed to you prior to the event.

Cancellation Policy

Bookings may only be cancelled by sending an email to taxseminar@bloomsbury.com by 09 June 2025. We will then refund your delegate fee minus an administration charge of 10% + VAT per cancelled delegate booking. Refunds for later cancellation are entirely at the discretion of Bloomsbury Professional. We will not refund fees to delegates who have not cancelled and who, for whatever reason, do not attend the conference.

We reserve the right to make changes to the conference programme, date, content, speakers and venue as necessary; or cancel the conference altogether, in which case we will refund in full any delegate fees paid.

Format

Please note that a recording of the conference will be available to delegates at the discretion of Bloomsbury Professional. The conference is online-only, and an event pack including slides will be made available to delegates prior to the event.

Data

Data supplied will be used only for the purposes of organising and administering this conference and will not be used for other activities not connected to the conference. We will not sell or share the information provided with other organisations.

Bloomsbury Professional may contact delegates by email to inform them about future Tax conferences. If you would prefer not to be contacted then please let us know. If you would like to sign up to our mailing list to keep in touch with the latest book releases and online services, you can do so here: <https://www.bloomsburyprofessional.com/uk/newsletters/tax/>.

Discounts

Discounts are given at the discretion of Bloomsbury Professional. Only one discount may be applied per delegate place, for instance the early bird discount, a professional member body discount, or a discount given for group bookings. If you have any queries about your booking, please email our team at taxseminar@bloomsbury.com.

Disclaimer

Copyright: Copyright and all intellectual property rights of material covered in this seminar belongs to our presenters and/or Bloomsbury, and no part may be copied or reproduced in any way without the prior written consent of Bloomsbury.

General: The seminar and all supporting materials are prepared solely for training purposes and are not a substitute for legal advice. Presenters, authors and Bloomsbury will not accept responsibility for loss howsoever occasioned to any person or persons arising from any reliance; including but not limited to reliance on any content for the purposes of giving advice to third parties.

Technical: Prior to submitting a booking request, it is your responsibility to ensure that you are able to access Zoom (the platform we are using to deliver the event) and have downloaded any software needed to do so. Bloomsbury is not liable or responsible for any technical issues that may arise as a result of your failure to ensure compatibility as above. Due to its inherent nature, you acknowledge that Bloomsbury is not liable or responsible for any delay, disruption or disturbance in the operation of the internet. Should you have any specific technical queries about using Zoom on the day, we will make details of IT support available to you with your registration link.